Newest "Queen of the Seas" Is Longer Than Tallest Building

THE newest vessel to gain the title of "queen of the seas" is the Olympic, which recently arrived at New York on her first voyage across the Atlantic. She will hold the title only until a larger vessel, now in process of construction, has been finished and started on the ocean ferry. The Olympic is a monster, as the above picture shows. She is 889 1/2 feet long, so long that it became necessary to lengthen her pier so that she could dock in New York. An idea of her great length is obtained by comparing her with various lofty structures, as is done above. At the extreme left is the Bunker Hill monument, and then in order come the Philadelphia city hall, the Washington monument, the Metropolitan building, New York; the projected Woolworth building, New York; the Olympic, the Cologne cathedral, the Great pyramid in Egypt and St. Paul's cathedral, London. It will be noticed that the huge liner, if stood on end, would be taller than the highest structure ever raised by man except the Eiffel tower. The Woolworth building, on which work was recently started in New York, is to be 750 feet high. The main portion of the structure will be thirty stories, with a tower reaching twenty-five stories higher.

CONNEAU

Won Big International Aviation Race Which Covered Four Countries of Europe.

Special to Telegram.
Paris, July 7.—Lieut. Conneau, whose racing name is Andrea Beaumont, won the 1,000 mile international circuit aviation race which ended today at the aviation field at Vincennes. As he had already won the Paris to Rome contest Conneau brings added glory to the French navy, of which he is an officer. Of the 15 aeroplanists who took wings at Vincennes June 18 nine reached the final goal. Two of the aviators were killed on the opening day. Several others received more or less serious injuries during the course of the flight, which was through four countries. The prizes aggregate $100,000.

HOT SPELL ENDS WITH CLODBURST IN STAUNTON, VA.

Special to Telegram.
Staunton, Va., July 7.—At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the terrific hot spell was broken in this vicinity by an unusual heavy rain and electrical storm. Streets were flooded by the cloudburst with from 4 to 8 inches of water. The Chesapeake and Ohio embankment was rendered unsafe in several places by the rush of water against it. The only damage done in the county was the washing away of bridges, flood-gates and fences. Nothing but trees as far as could be learned, were injured by lightning. From 90 degrees at two o'clock the thermometer fell to 67 degrees by three.

Postoffice Nominations.
Special to Telegram.
Washington, July 7.—President Taft today sent the following nominations of postmasters to the Senate: West Virginia, C. J. Martin, Fairview; Virginia, Susan T. Boswell, Burksville.

City Treasurer E. A. Brown has filed with Mayor Murphy his monthly report of the city's finances, showing the amounts received and expended during the month of June and the balance on hand at the end of the month. The report is so gotten up that one can tell at a glance just how much money there is in each of the several departments. The books of the treasurer are made especially for keeping these accounts and in a minute a balance can be struck on any of the various accounts kept.

LORIMER

Committee Will Hold Meeting In Chicago Says Senator Gamble.

Special to Telegram.
Chicago, July 7.—United States Senator Gamble, of South Dakota, member of the Lorimer Senatorial investigating committee, arrived in Chicago today and at once held a conference with the committee's attorney now at work here. Senator Gamble said that in all probability the committee would come to Chicago to hold a session within a fortnight after the committee meets again in Washington and that there will be numerous important witnesses called.

GREENSBORO AFTER WEATHER BUREAU

Chamber of Commerce Renews Campaign For Location of Bureau In This City—North Carolina Senators and Congressman Stedman Will Be Asked to Act.

Secretary McLean, of the Chamber of Commerce, will at once take up with Senators Lee S. Overman and F. M. Simmons and Congressman Charles M. Stedman the matter of a weather bureau for Greensboro. More than two years ago this matter was taken up with Senators Simmons and Overman and the weather bureau promised to give Greensboro a station as early as possible. In April, 1910, Secretary McLean again called the attention of the North Carolina senators to the matter and Willis L. Moore, of the weather bureau stated that he had no funds with which to establish a station, but if an appropriation was made by Congress at the next session he would do his best to comply with Greensboro's request. As one session has been held and a special session being now in progress Secretary McLean thought it might be well to again inquire into the matter and also enlist the services of Congressman Stedman. Raleigh, Charlotte, Wilmington and Asheville have weather bureau stations and one is badly needed in Greensboro. It is believed with the assistance of the North Carolina Senators and Congressman Stedman the weather bureau can be prevailed upon to send one of his assistant prognosticators to Greensboro.

GUILFORD'S GAIN WILL BE MORE THAN $2,000,000

So Believes County Assessor R. W. Harrison--Returns Not Yet Compiled.

County Assessor R. W. Harrison is busy preparing for the meeting of the county board of equalization, of which he is a member, on Monday for the purpose of hearing complaints as to the property assessments, by the township assessors this year. While Mr. Harrison has not yet completed the compilation of the returns of the assessors by townships he states that the books will show a considerable gain in the values over last year. The gain, it is thought, will exceed $2,000,000.

He finds upon examination that the property throughout the county was assessed at one half its real value, the equalization being much better than it has been in former years. Before some have been assessed at from 15 to 30 per cent, others from 30 to 50 per cent, and others at from 50 to 75 per cent. This year the assessment has been equalized and the burden will fall on each property owner alike, as has not been the case formerly.

It is in the power of the board of equalization to either raise or lower the assessments, but it is believed that as made they will in the whole be acceptable to all concerned. The assessments have to also run the gamut of the State Tax Commission after the board of equalization is through with them, and this board can also lower or raise the assessments.

It is understood that all over the State the assessments are more nearly equalized this year than ever before in the history of the State. The law provided that all property should be taxed at its real value, but in no counties has this been done. However, there will be a considerable increase in the valuations by reason of the assessment and in consequence the amount of taxes derived will be correspondingly increased.

Ban Johnson Appeals.

Special to Telegram.
New York, July 7.—Attorneys for Ban Johnson, president of the American League, who yesterday lost on motion for a new trial of the Ward label suit, today filed notice of appeal. Ward was granted a verdict for $1,000, which was sustained when the original suit was appealed.

COMPROMISED SUIT AGAINST J. J. NELSON

County Board of Education and Ex-Clerk and His Bondsmen Reach An Agreement For Complete Settlement—School Fund Secures About $8,000 From This Source.

The suit of the County Board of Education vs. ex-Clerk John J. Nelson and bondsmen has been compromised and at the next term of court a judgment will be signed and the case stricken off the court docket. The compromise was effected by the agreement of the defendants to pay over to the county board the sum of $3,000.

This marks the end of a long drawn out case that entailed considerable work upon both parties to the suit, the details of which are familiar to readers of The Telegram. The payment of the above sum makes the total amount paid into the school fund something more than $8,000, that would never have been received as the accounts had been lost track of under the system of accounting then prevailing in the clerk's office.

The securing of the amount due necessitated the examination of every criminal case tried in Guilford Superior court for a period of nine years, 1899 to 1908 inclusive. The evidence accumulated in the case would fill a small volume, some of which is most interesting. David Stern was chief counsel for the Board of Education, being assisted by E. J. Justice and John N. Wilson, while King & Kimball and Thos. S. Beall represented the defendants.

E. L. HARRIS ENDORSED FOR COMMISSIONER

North Carolina Merchants Champion Raleigh Man.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 8.—President Edgar Broughton of the North Carolina Merchants' Association, announced today, that the officers and directors of the association have endorsed the candidacy of E. L. Harris, of Raleigh, for corporation commissioner to succeed the late H. C. Brown and it is known that local associations are being urged to take action to this effect. Salisbury association endorsed Harris last night. Governor Kitchin will return to Raleigh tomorrow. "There are many candidates" is the answer that Col. Alex. J. Field, private secretary to the governor, makes to the inquiry as to the number of candidates in the race for the commissioner'ship. Some of those known to be in the contest are E. L. Travis, of Halifax; E. L. Harris, Raleigh; L. C. Bagwell, Raleigh; H. A. London, Pittsboro; also there are being prominently mentioned, if not actually candidates, E. C. Beddingfield, Wake (former commissioner); Capt. Thomas Mason, of Northampton; J. O. Ellington, Fayetteville, former state bank examiner; Jacob A. Long, of Alamance county, former opponent of Chairman McNeill, of the commission; Thomas M. Robertson, of Randolph, now with the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington.

Jack Johnson to Meet Winner of Fistic Tourney

Special to Telegram.
London, July 7.—Jack Johnson has agreed to meet the winner of the Fistic Tourney to be held by Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter. McIntosh today sent a cablegram to Sam Langford, asking him to meet Billy Lang, the Australian champion, some time this winter. McIntosh believes that Lang will be the winner of the elimination contest and Johnson and Lang have been matched to meet in Sidney, New South Wales, Easter Monday of next year. Johnson is arranging for a three months tour of India, China, Japan and Australia. The champion will then go into training for the Lang contest.

Pole Vaulting Requires Nerve As Well as Skill and Strength

POLE vaulting is a form of athletics that is a tremendous strain on the contestants. It requires strength, skill and nerve, and there is also an awful jolting when the vaulter drops after letting go of the pole that has enabled him to throw his body ten or twelve feet into the air. In the regular contests there is always a soft spot of ground prepared for landing, but it is not always possible to make it, and often the athlete drops on to ground that is hard and thereby receives a shock to nerves, bones and muscles that will be long remembered. Just think of jumping from a height of twelve or thirteen feet and dropping on the hard ground and you will appreciate what the pole vaulter does. Sometimes the pole breaks, and then the athlete is not always able to land on his feet, but may break a limb or cause a strain that will be serious. The above picture shows Robert Gardner of Yale competing in the intercollegiate contest at Cambridge when he tied with three others, all of whom made twelve feet. The record is 12 feet 10 1/2 inches.

CHORUS GIRLS EXPECT TO BE ACQUITTED

Special to Telegram.

New York, July 7.—When the hearing of Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, accused of the attempted murder of W. Stokes, was resumed today it became evident that the girls will insist that they shot Stokes in self-defense. Stokes was on the stand today and was severely cross-examined in an endeavor to show that he has not been sent for by Miss Conrad to get the letters written by him to Miss Graham, but hoping to see the Conrad girl himself. Not only do the girls expect to be acquitted of the charge, but they anticipate a profitable vaudeville engagement. This statement was made by Ethel Conrad and Lillian Graham today. The trial will be resumed tomorrow when the girls will go on the stand.

RECOVERY OF JOHN W. GATES DOUBTFUL

Special to Telegram.

Paris, July 7.—Notwithstanding the secrecy maintained in the desire to minimize the gravity of John W. Gates' condition it was learned that he is a very sick man and that his recovery is doubtful. Five physicians and three trained nurses are combating a condition, the symptoms of which have been observed by friends for months past. Mr. Gates has had seven operations performed on his throat for a cancerous growth. These are said to have been successful, but his liver and kidneys are in bad shape. His son Charlie is racing across the sea on the Mauretania and is expected to arrive in Paris in a few days.

Taft Leaves For Atlantic City.

Special to Telegram.
Washington, July 7.—President Taft left this afternoon for Atlantic City where tomorrow he will address the convention of Christian Endeavor being held there. From there he will take a cruise on the Mayflower, accompanied by several senators, returning to the capital Thursday.

ATWOOD

And Aerial Companion Fall Into Ocean--Rescued By Life-savers.

Special to Telegram.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 7.—Harry N. Atwood, the Boston aviator, started on his trip to Washington today at four o'clock. Just before the machine was cleaned up the propeller hit a dog breaking it. A delay of several minutes ensued to put on a new propeller. Atwood and C. J. Hamilton, who was to fly with him, started on their trip far over the ocean. As they were returning a sharp wind dashed the flying machine into the ocean. The aviators were rescued by life savers. Atwood announced that as soon as he had some minor repairs made he would resume his flight to Washington.

SWANSON WOULD HAVE GOVERNMENT BUILD GOOD ROADS

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 7.—Senator Swanson, of Virginia, in a speech today in the Senate said that $215,000,000 is the annual mud tax on the people of the United States. He urged the passage of a bill providing an appropriation of $20,000,000 to be used annually for a period of five years in improving the highways of the country. He would apportion the money among the several states according to their population.

Governor Wilson Docked.

Special to Telegram.
Trenton, N. J., July 7.—When Governor Wilson received his June salary check today he found it doctored three days pay for the time he had spent outside the State. It is understood that the Governor has taken the matter up with the state comptroller.

HAVING THE POWER TO CONTROL, THEY ARE THEMSELVES CON- TROLLED.

It is said that the express companies of this country take from the public annually fifty million dollars more in profits than a reasonable return on their investment and business. The men who own and control the express companies are to be censured for their unfair
methods of doing business, but the people who permit this condition to prevail
are responsible for its continuance.

The great mass of common people,
who control the voting power of the country, are responsible for all existing evils of which the country complains.
They have the votes and they can place
their State governments and their national government in charge of men who will frame just laws and men who will see that the laws are impartially and rigidly enforced. All illegal combines can be controlled; all unjust combinations restrained; all evils can be wiped out; men who are not disposed to deal honestly with their fellow men can be forced to do so or be forced out of business. The votes of the masses combined will accomplish whatever is desired by the masses in this country.

The weakness of the people is that many of them do not know what is best for the country; do not know what they want, what the country needs;
they do not stick together and vote together; and a majority of them are usually more willing to follow the suggestions of demagogues and professional politicians than the leadership of honest men who are their sincere and unselfish friends. The men who actually control
this country have all along taken advantage of this state of affairs. In fact,
if this had not been true, they would long ago have gone down under the votes of the masses, the people who have
it in their power to peacefully and lawfully control the government and every matter affecting the welfare of the country.

THE PROPER ATTITUDE OF A PRO- FESSOR OF CHICAGO UNIVERSITY.

In discussing the speech recently delivered in Virginia by Professor Dodd,
which has been the subject of much talk
in that State and in other States, the Danville Register says Prof. Dodd is living on the bounty of John D. Rockefeller, who has been the largest contributor of money to the University of Chicago, and that, therefore, he should not have slapped Rockefeller in the face. What would the Register regard as an honorable and reasonable attitude for a professor in Chicago University? In selling his services as a teacher in that institution should he include his moral and religious views, his political opinions and principles and his rights as a free man? Should he, as a professor in an institution to which Rockefeller has contributed money, never give expression to opinions
differing from the opinions of Rockefeller? In other words, did Rockefeller buy the bodies and souls of the men who compose the faculty of Chicago University with his contributions to the financial needs of that institution?

These are practical questions and the Register's answer is awaited with interest.

There is room for difference of opinion as to the language employed by Prof.
Dodd in expressing his views. It may have been harsh; his views may be extreme; but there is little room for difference of opinion among free men in regard to the questions asked above.

There will be few, we think, who will assert that Prof. Dodd should see green when Rockefeller wears green glasses or
that his views should take on roseate
hues when the Standard Oil magnate changes the color of his spectacles to pink.

HOT WEATHER ADVICE.

Some hot weather advice given to the public through the medium of one of the New York newspapers is notable because of its utter unfitness for the relief
or aid of the masses of New York's population or the masses of any other city or section. The physician who unloaded this advice on the public is a distinguished gentleman in his profession and is presumed to be the possessor of common sense in addition to professional knowledge. His advice might fit the case of people of leisure and wealth and they could, undoubtedly, guide themselves according to the eminent physician's rules;
but hot weather advice given to the people through the columns of the newspapers is supposed to be applicable to the needs of the common people, and the advice under consideration is not.

For example the New York doctor says
in regard to clothing and exercise during the hot weather: "Avoid physical exercise as far as possible. Keep out of the sun, but in ninety-nine cases in gaged in mental or clerical work indoors
can avoid physical exercise and keep out of the sun, but in ninety-nine cases in every hundred, physical exercise and air
and sunshine is just what people of these classes need most in hot weather and at all other times. To advise those who do the world's rough work and the farmers of the country to avoid physical exercise
and the sun, is the sheerest nonsense.

Some more of the illuminating advice of this New York doctor consists of an injunction to take salt water baths, in the ocean if possible. That course is entirely possible for those who have nothing else to do but spend the summer at the seaside, but it is somewhat difficult to figure out how the man whose wages will scarcely buy food for himself and family, and whose daily toil keeps him
miles from the ocean, is going to take daily salt baths in the big pond. The doctor should have accompanied his advice with an explanatory chart, designed to show where the cash for the summer outing can be obtained by the poor man.

LOOK TO THE LEGISLATURE.

The North Carolina Bar Association's views in regard to existing need in this State for jury reform and other changes
in legal procedure, are still being discussed by the newspapers and by citizens. The recommendations of the Association have been voiced before by other citizens and efforts have been made to secure some of the reforms advocated by the lawyers. Previous efforts have been unsuccessful; but the attitude of the lawyers and their utterances appear to have revived interest in these matters
and to have been the means of greatly stimulating the demand for reforms. The general opinion seems to be that if the lawyers have come to the conclusion that changes are imperative, conditions have evidently reached a stage which make it necessary for public spirited citizens to arouse themselves to active interest.

As far as we are aware, The Telegram
was the first newspaper in the State,
following the passage and publication of the Bar Association's resolutions, to express the opinion that the rotation system for superior court judges should not be abolished. The majority of the newspapers of the State which have spoken
on this point take issue with the lawyers. They hold that the present rotation system should be maintained; that if the judges are to rotate at all it should be throughout the State and not in two or three districts. The rotation system undoubtedly has advantages which commend it to all citizens who desire to see the laws faithfully and impartially enforced. We believe it will be difficult to break down existing sentiment for this system.

The changes suggested by the Bar Association in the jury system have met with general approval. The consensus of opinion seems to be that a number of changes are needed at this point and that some of them should be of a more or less radical nature. The proposition to increase the number of superior court
judges also meets with general approval.
Apparently the people have come to the conclusion that the number of judges is insufficient to cope with conditions in the courts. On the whole it seems that there is going to be very general approval
of the recommendations of the Bar Association and that the next thing in order will be the election of a Legislature pledged to give the State the reforms
needed and desired.

Now they are calling the trusts the Jesse Jameses of the business world.

Seemingly, it is going to cost more to get Lorimer out than it cost to put him
in.

The Castro war scare does not give promise of attaining large proportions,
but it persists in hanging around.

Mexico is said to be on the verge of another revolution. That will be Mexico's usual state until another Diaz arises

to take charge of the government of that country.

The Telegram will sell by tonight what you offer in its columns this morning,
if you have something worth while to offer the people and know how to advertise it.

Wilmington Dispatch, an authority on this subject, says that baseball players will not be able to win the admiration of the home fans by swatting flies; that what they are expected to swat is safe hits.

Philadelphia Record thinks the insurgents in the Senate will find that their opposition to reciprocity is a political blunder of great size. Perhaps Senator Simmons, also, will have a similar experience.

Chief Wilkie of the United States
Secret Service, issues a warning against a dangerous counterfeit $100 bill that is abroad in the land. Newspaper men should be very careful in looking out for this counterfeit, otherwise somebody will be giving them bunches of these bills in making change.

Next Monday an Important Day.

Next Monday is the most important
day for each of the counties in North Carolina of the whole year. On that day, in accordance with the Machinery
Act, the Board of Equalization of taxes meets in each county town. It is a meeting not only of interest to the people in the county but to the whole State,
for the last General Assembly made provision to end the miserable and unjust
valuation of property by the Corporation Commission and the various county officers, which failure of duty was responsible for the deficit in the State Treasury last year. Engines that cost thirty to forty thousand dollars are assessed at not more than one-half their value; railroad property that earns big money is assessed at not more than 60 per cent
of its value and the same sort of underv-
valuation in many of the counties exists
as to the private corporations and as to the farm and city property in the State. But that is not the worst of it.
The worst of it is that in some counties
they value their property at twice as much as property of equal value is put on the tax list in other counties. Worse still, in some counties one township pays taxation on twice as much valuation as an adjoining township, although the land is just as valuable.

The Legislature passed an act by which these unjust inequalities can be ended. All that is necessary is for the officers to obey their oaths and to put the property on the tax list at its true value as required by law. On Monday the Board of Equalization will meet in each county. This board is composed of the County Board of Commissioners and the County Assessor who was named by the State Corporation Commission.
The duties of this Board of Equalization are set forth in Section 29 of the Machinery Act, and is as follows:

"The Board of County Commissioners and the County Assessor shall constitute a board of equalization for the county and shall meet on the second Monday in July. The chairman of the Board of County Commissioners shall be chairman of the board of equalization and shall lay before the board of equalization the returns of the county and assistant assessors. Said board shall equalize the valuation so that each tract or lot or article of personal property shall be entered in the tax list at its true
value in money, and for this purpose
they shall observe the following rules:

(1) They shall raise the valuation of such tracts or lots of property or articles of personal property, including stocks, bonds and shares in all incorporated companies except such as are specifically exempt by law, as in their opinion have been returned below their true value to such price or sum as they may believe to be the true value thereof. (2)
They shall reduce the valuation of such tracts and lots or articles of personal property as in their opinion have been returned above their true value, as compared with the average valuation of real
and personal property, including stocks,
bonds and shares of all incorporated companies of such county. In regard to real property, they shall have due regard to the relative situation, quality of soil, improvements, natural and artificial advantages possessed by each tract or lot."
It will be seen by reading this act that the duties of this board are large and that if the members of the board are true to their official oaths the property in each county will be assessed at its true value and the property in the various parts of the counties will be equalized.

News comes from some counties that the assessments have been increased in a fair way. In other counties there has been very little increase although the property when offered for sale brings from fifty to a hundred per cent more than four years ago. News comes from some counties—Wake, as well as others
—that in some townships where there ought to be a large increase, there is practically none. These matters should be taken up by the Board of Equalization on Monday, full publicity furnished and the property of each county fairly assessed and equalized. If the County Board of Equalization must take the matter up and compel them to do it. The people of North Carolina do not believe in assessing property too high but they are tired of the gross undervaluation of property and still more tired of the gross injustice in permitting one township or one county to assess its property at much less than it is worth where many townships and counties are assessing their property in accordance with the law.—

RAP ON WOOD

(By CARA REESE.)

It seems that way, namely, just as you cheerfully remark on how well you feel, how satisfactorily affairs are moving along, or how nicely the children are behaving, that some malicious influence comes along and makes you out a pre-parator.

Some folks "rap on wood" when they make agreeable remarks of any kind pertaining to well-being and welfare. This rapping on wood is said to deter from advance or to expel the evil from the neighborly proximity. There may be something to it.

A good hard pounding on wood has accomplished meritorious results many times where a lack of it has led to the reverse. A rap on the door of such force as to threaten the panels or loosen the hinges has opened the door into wider fields of opportunity or sometimes into the very fortress where the treasures are in hiding. An imperative rapping on wood wakens the sleeper, it brings running the sentinel, it lowers the portculis or opens the shutter. There is a stir and a favorable response usually when an energetic pounding on the door begins
and keeps up.

A good smart rapping on other sorts of wood has been efficacious. There have been paternal fists brought down on tables, window sills, arms of chairs or on work bench or barrow which have settled the fate of incipient evils and errors
as cropping up or peeping forth in the dispositions and tendencies of offspring.
These sturdy raps have come down with a determination which has exorcised the pernicious' once and for all. Rapping on wood attracts attention. Next to the policeman's rattle or whistle, it brings assistance or sends the marauder scampering.

Mother has been known to rap on wood too. Sometimes it is a slipper brought down smartly on the kitchen table or the porch railing or on some convenient surface, though the slipper is usually reserved for a climax on softer and more feeling material. But there is an admonitory rapping, a thimble on the side of the work basket, a smart tapping on tub, bucket or tray, and the tapping means that things have gone far enough
in boisterous play or unseemly conduct.
Frequently it means an incentive to speed.

Rapping and tapping on wood, the fe-
rule on the teacher's desk, the "pound"
for order in office or assembly, the knocking and banging in the effort to secure a hearing have accomplished much good, hence why not the same efficiency
in connection with health and welfare?
Some say that boasts of prospects, fine
physical condition or a general comfortable feeling, invites the malevolent attack, hence it were wise to scare off or drive back the intruder by smart rapping
on wood. But all do not boast. The ac-knowledgegment of well-being is made
with a deep sense of gratitude, yet everything disturbing happens. Everybody rap on wood.

Women Who Should Not Wed

(By POLLY PAGET.)

The woman who buys for the mere pleasure of buying.

The woman who expects to have "a good easy time."

The woman who thinks that cook and nurse can keep house.

The woman who would die rather than wear a last season's hat.

The woman who expects a declaration of love three times a day.

The woman who marries in order to have some one to pay her bills.

The woman who reads novels and dreams of being a duchess or a countess.

The woman who thinks she can get $5,000 worth of style out of $1,000 income.

The woman who does not know how many pennies, nickels and dimes go to make a dollar.

The woman who proudly declares that she can not even hem a pocket handkerchief and never made up a bed in her life.

The woman who cares more for the style of her spring suit than she cares
for the health and comfort of her children.

A teacher, wishing to impress upon her pupils the population of China, said:
"The population of China is so great that every time you breathe two Chinamen die."

In a short time a little boy at the foot of the class was noticed by the teacher to be breathing and puffing vigorously. The teacher, much alarmed at his actions, inquired:
"What is the matter? What on earth
are you doing?"

"Killing Chinamen," was the quick reply. "I don't like these foreigners, so I'm getting rid of them as quick as I can."—National Magazine.

ART OF WINNING A WOMAN

(By VIRGINIA HARLAN.)

Men are all curiously simple and guileless. The nicer the man, the more transparent, undiplomatic and self-revealing
is he, and that is why a girl, who maybe
only pinned up her hair the other day,
feels quite a motherly sort of pity for
the victim of her charms, even should he
be ten or a dozen years older than her pretty self.

She knows that if she were he—and he herself—that she could win her own wayward heart in the inside of a month,
and because he goes blundering along—
coming forward when he ought to go backward, and the other way round about,
accepting rebuffs when he should laugh
at them, and laughing when her dignity demands heart-broken seriousness—gradually ascertain amount of contempt mingles with her pity, and then good-bye to the lover's chances.

"Audacity does the trick," is one of the many proverbs anent love making, and,
like all proverbs, it contains more than a grain of truth.

Audacity undoubtedly is an excellent card for a lover to play in the game of love. A girl adores being taken by storm
—nearly always! There are degrees, however, and the most successful wooer
is he who knows how to mingle a certain amount of humility with his audacity.

Much admiration, the knowledge that she is undisputed queen of a man's heart, often goes like strong wine to a girl's head. She cannot resist using her new power, and sometimes, alas! is quite cruelly unkind to her too devoted slave.
In such circumstances the man who has the courage to seemingly break his fettters, to smilingly transfer some of his attention and devotion elsewhere, that wise and knowing person will find himself met later more than half way when he returns to his allegiance.

"Woman is a shadow." Run after her,
and she flees before you; run away, and she follows!

Household Hints

To prevent starch from jumping mix
it with cornflour, allowing one teaspoonful of cornflour to six of starch.

When cleaning knives mix a little carbonate of soda with the bath brick and they will polish more easily.

Gilt oil china will not last long if soda be used in the washing of it; therefore, use soapy water for washing teacups, etc., patterned with gilt, and keep soda carefully away from them.

To destroy moths put the moth infested articles into a baker's oven which has just been used for baking. Let them remain there over night and in the morning take them out and shake and beat them in the open air.

To prevent outdoor brass from tar-nishing, clean the brasses as usual, then rub it over with a soft cloth dipped in vaseline and afterwards polish it with a dry duster. This will keep it from getting tarnished so quickly, even in the dampest weather.

Clean iron holders are the exception rather than the rule. They need not be,
for little washable cases, open at one end
like a pillow slip, are easily made, and can be renewed as often as desirable with little trouble. Tie cases on with tapes.

To remove ink or rust stains from white goods, moisten the stained goods
with cold water and then rub with salt.
Lay out in the hot sun and squeeze a few drops of California lemon juice on the marks. Let it dry, and repeat the juice and drying until the stain is gone.

For ugly stains on unvarnished wood,
nothing will more quickly remove these discolorations than a half of a California lemon to which has been added a little salt.

When a nasty, disagreeable odor spreads through the house—no need to look for Turkish incense to burn. Try the scheme of one of my little California
friends. She saves all her lemon peels, and sprinkles a few dry ones on the live
coals and instantly an odor reminiscent of Araby the Blest will perfume the air
of the whole place.

The next time that you have a particularly tough piece of meat to boil, just add a teaspoonful of the juice of a California lemon to the water in which it is cooking and notice the improvement.

You don't realize how many shocking
things there are in the world unless you happen to be a prude.

(3.) In how many respects is Jesus "exalted, extolled," and "very high"?

(4.) Verses 14-15—Notwithstanding the Old Testament prophecies concerning the suffering Messiah was there a single person who was not "astonished" at his crucifixion?

(18.) When the prophet says "We did esteem him stricken, smitten of God and afflicted," were the Jews or others right or wrong in so thinking?

(19.) Was God at any time angry with Jesus, or did he ever punish him?

(20.) In what way did Jesus bear all the cruel insults and the physical suffering inflicted on him by the Jews, for our sakes?

(21.) Suppose the Jews had yielded their hearts to the loving invitation of Jesus, and had espoused His cause as His Apostles did, what would have been the probable result upon the salvation of the world? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(22.) Why did the Jews bring about the crucifixion of Jesus?

(23.) Verses 10-12—What are some of the personal blessings which come to us through the death of Jesus?

(24.) What are some of the national blessings which we enjoy through the death of Jesus?

AUTOMOBILE TURNS OVER.

One Newspaper Man Killed and His Companion Injured.

Cannonsburg, Pa., July 7.—George Brown, aged 35, a newspaper man of New York, was killed, and Carl Palmer, sporting editor of the Washington (Pa.) Record, and C. Guthrie, chauffeur, were seriously injured today when their automobile turned turtle near here. Brown's neck was broken.

Mrs. Nuwed—Mary, for dinner I think we'll have boiled mutton with caper sauce. Are there any capers in the house?

Mary—No, ma'am.

Mrs. Nuwed—Then go out in the garden and cut some.—Harvard Lampoon.

Living Portrait of Mark Twain.

A singular story comes from a small town in Pennsylvania, according to Harper's Weekly. On April 21, 1910, a cow was born on a farm near Alburts at almost the identical moment when Mark Twain died at his home in Connecticut. On her right side, outlined in dark brown against a snow-white background, is a profile bust of that author. The likeness, which was plain at the birth of the calf, has grown more and more distinct, until it is now impossible to fail to identify the well-known features. Naturally, the cow was named Mark Twain. It is safe to say that the great humorist would have appreciated this joke of Nature at his expense.

Prince's "Pull" Abolished.

According to custom in China the members of the imperial family are above the law. Prince Can-Chi has been doing just as he likes recently, fortified with this immunity. There is not a hygienic law that this interesting person has not broken, and his great recreation seems to have been to defy the police. At length to the endurance of the police there came a limit, and the matter was brought under the notice of the regent, who has not only abolished the "convention," but the prince's recreations also, and given instructions that in future he must act as an ordinary citizen, or stand the consequences.

Training School for Burglars.

An academy where burglary was being taught on the most approved lines by experts in the profession was discovered by the police at Berlin lately. The principal, who was an old convict, examined each student in the various branches of the science before granting the leaving certificate, which was equivalent to a degree in burglary. In return for their training, board and lodging, the students were expected to pay a fixed sum and a percentage on their profits during the first year or so after they entered the profession.

DIDN'T SEEM TO WORK OUT

Dog Owner's Idea Bright Enough, But Somehow Her Memory Got Twisted.

To Miss Bounce, who knows nothing whatever about dogs and can scarcely tell a greyhound from a St. Bernard, Mr. Kennel presented a fine young Airedale terrier. He was extremely wide awake and active, even for a pup, and the young lady was kept constantly on the alert to prevent his getting into mischief or running into danger. Casting about in her mind for a suitable name for this restless animal Miss Bounce remembered that in her school days she had learned in her philosophy that "wind is air in motion." What more appropriate name, then, for the young Airedale than Wind. So Wind he was called. His name, thought Miss Bounce, also will aid me memorically to remember the name of the species to which he belongs.

"What kind of a dog is that pup of yours?" asked some one one week after the christening.

Miss Bounce's eyes roved anxiously for an instant, but she steeled herself directly as she replied with serene confidence, "He is a Wind Hound."

Her Chosen Model

Helen Ford glanced up at the model who was awaiting her verdict. He was so handsome, and altogether attractive and so very little resembling her usual models that she found herself faltering a more or less confused array of questions.

His answers fulfilled every desire of the artist yet she was strangely hesitant about hiring him for a model. But she needed just that lionine head with its shock of red-brown hair and those massive shoulders for her work; he was the ideal for her portrayal of "Strength, Courage and Endurance," a symbolic painting upon which she was at work. The artist in the girl was too strong to admit the intrusion of unfounded scruples regarding her models and she arranged for David Graham to come to her at ten o'clock on the following morning.

Never, in Helen Ford's short career as an artist, had she arranged her wonderful mouse-colored hair with a view to pleasing her expected models. Yet, an hour before the time set for David Graham's appointment, she found herself unconsciously studying each effect of her toilette. When David Graham arrived he was made to feel that he was a model and nothing more.

At the end of three weeks of feverish work, each day of which had given her three hours of David Graham's time, she realized the meaning of her fears.

"Miss Ford," Graham's voice startled her. "If you are not at a critical point I would like to stop for today. I feel a little fagged."

The girl, left alone, turned to lean wearily on the mantelpiece. She gazed into the glowing coals.

"He knew I was tired," she told herself; "he is going because I am tired. I am tired—desperately tired."

For an hour Helen struggled with her feelings. She knew that in her present state she could not receive David Graham again. His forethought when he knew she was unstrung, had only quickened the best of her love for him.

At the end of the hour she wrote a note to her model telling him that she would let her canvas rest for a few weeks. She would let him know when she needed him again.

In the afternoon, after having taken a brisk walk, she returned to her studio to find a dozen of the most perfect American beauties she had ever seen. There was no card. After that they came at regular intervals.

When three weeks had passed Helen felt that she must get to work. She wrote to David Graham and to Lilly Drake asking them to come the following day to pose.

David Graham greeted the artist as usual with a simple "Good morning."

When the other model arrived Helen posed them as Strength supporting Weakness.

Helen felt, rather than saw, that David Graham was disinclined to put his arm about the girl model and support her figure during the pose.

The artist sketched the figures as quickly as she could, but she felt a steady thumping in her heart. She herself had arranged David's arm about the girl yet each time she glanced at her models the pangs of jealousy grew.

When the rest moments came Helen dismissed both models. The strain had been too much for her. At least, the two figures stood on her canvas.

As the door shut the second time, closing on David's back, Helen Ford dropped down on the couch and buried her head in the cushions.

David Graham came swiftly to her side. He had turned at the outer door before going out.

"Helen, Helen—" He took her into his arms to still her trembling. "Don't—you are only tiring yourself."

Helen remained passive in his arms. She was too tired to resist.

"Look up, dear—the struggle is over. I'm not a model any more."

His words brought Helen to herself. She drew away and her eyes flashed defiance at him.

"Don't struggle any more," he said gently. "You have loved me for nearly six weeks and now I want to hear you say it."

"I will say nothing of the kind."

"I have the consent of your brother, anyway." David Graham turned toward the door. "And I won't wait very long for yours!"

There was something in his voice that drew Helen to her feet.

"Wait! What are you talking about?" He came back and sat beside her on the couch.

"Only this—Out west I used to be often in the house of one John Ford. On the walls, on the bookcases and on the mantels were pictures of a girl who had gone east to make a name for herself. She refused to be loved by the man who wanted her and she went off with the career notion filling her life. Her family told me that no ordinary man could win her from art. I came, posing as part of the art she loved. It seemed like the only way for a mere man to reach the inner life—have I reached it, dear?" He looked into the radiantly beautiful face of the girl.

"Tell me quickly that you never posed for anyone else?"

"No, nor ever again—it is far too strenuous a life for me."

"Not even for me?" Helen questioned.

"I was going to say, never again except for my wife." David drew her into his arms. "Does that satisfy the little artist?"

FATAL REVOLVER FIGHT.

County Officers and Escaped Burglars in Desperate Clash.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 7.—In a revolver fight between Oswego county officers and escaped burglars at Cicero, north of here, early today, Walter Parker, one of the fugitives, was killed.

Four men escaped from the Oswego jail Tuesday afternoon. Two of them were taken this morning at Clay. The posse struck the trail of Parker and another named Kelly, came upon them on the country road leading out of the village of Cicero today. The officers called upon the men to halt, and fired their revolvers in the air. Parker had a revolver and opened fire on the posse, the officers replying. After running 100 yards Parker fell dead.

RED HAIR WAS NEW TO THEM

Indians for a Long Time Insisted That White Man's Scalp Must Have Been Painted.

Forty years ago the Indians in Colorado knew but little of the white man, and nothing hardly of his ways or habits except from tradition. Among the people who went to settle in Colorado at that time was a man with very red hair. He and his party were thrown among the Indians, who thought at first that his hair was painted, just as they painted their own bodies and faces.

An old chief came up to him one day and looked at his hair very carefully.

"Ugh!" said he.

And then, turning to the interpreter who had the party in charge, he wanted him to ask the man where he got the kind of paint that would color, and yet not be greasy or look dabby.

He was told that the man's hair was not painted, but he would not believe it. He once more walked up to the man and scrutinized his locks, running his hand through them and looking at his fingers.

The red-haired man became a little nervous, and half fancied that the chief was calculating how nice a red scalp would look hung to his belt. The interpreter, however, laughingly told the man what the chief had said.

Two or three more of the Indians then gathered around the party, and they and the interpreter had a pow-wow. Finally the interpreter asked the man if he would object to putting water on his hair.

He saw the Indians would not believe but that it was painted, until they saw that the water would not wash the color out. The man took some water, rubbed it on his hair, and then showed his hands to them. But it took four or five days of wondering examination to convince them that he had not found some peculiar paint, and got himself up in a bright red suit of hair.

DAILY MARKET REPORTS

WEATHER FORECASTS.

North Carolina—Generally fair. Rest of eastern belt, local showers. Louisiana—Unsettled, showers. Arkansas—Unsettled, showers in south. Oklahoma—Unsettled, showers in south. East Texas—Unsettled, showers. West Texas—Unsettled, showers in north tonight or Saturday.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, July 7.—The map shows cloudy weather in Texas, Oklahoma and in central States. Precipitation at several scattered points in the western belt, which indicates that the rainfall was rather general. Generally fair weather prevailed in the Atlantic. Detail rain records show a pretty general but so far rather light rainfall. Indications are for continued cloudy showery weather in the western half of the belt, also in Mississippi and Alabama. Liverpool was poor on the whole list with new crops about 4 lower than due. Spots 11 lower, sales 6,000. A cable said: "Political outlook continues unsettled. With favorable crop weather we have an unfavorable opinion of the market." Another cable said: "Spinners meeting decided against short time."

Our market round the opening declined to 12.93 for October, but met a very steady demand under 13c., and steadied when detailed rain records were found disappointing. The fact of the matter is that the Western States have not yet been entirely relieved and all depends on weather developments in the near future. Continued heavy rains in the central States are causing apprehension. HAYWARD & CLARK.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Ill., July 7. Wheat—There was pretty fair cash demand in the market, but country offerings continue very large and we look for liberal receipts here for some time. Weather in the Northwest generally clear and warmer and several unfavorable reports were received today. The market after opening firm in sympathy with the advance in Liverpool, later gained strength and advanced sharply on the unfavorable reports from the Northwest. Free realizing, however, caused a moderate set back. Until more is known regarding the outcome of the spring wheat crop it is deemed advisable to ## keep off the short side.

Corn—There were some rains reported in Kansas, but outside of that State the weather was generally clear and hot. Market opened firm and gained further strength during the day. Free realizing on the advance, however, caused a moderate set back. Good general soaking rains are needed. It is believed that the damage already done warrants the present level of values and any further deterioration will advance prices materially. The safest course to pursue is to buy on all weak spots.

Oats—There was a fairly large trade in oats today and the market generally followed the course of corn. Country offerings are practically nothing while there was a fairly good cash demand. Crop reports continue gloomy and many are still of the opinion that prices will work higher and advise buying on all moderate set backs.

Provisions—Were again active with liberal trade. The opening was higher with hogs and further gains were made largely in sympathy with the grain markets and the closing was firm.

bureau. The matter attracted the attention of the hydrographic office and a series of tests were made. The highest temperature in the river was 84 degrees recorded July 2. These observations were taken from the jetties to the city, 107 miles.

Lieut. John C. Soley of the hydrographic office, in explaining this fact, says that water from the Gulf stream coming from near Tampico, Mexico, is exceptionally warm, and has recently been running closer to shore. This warm stream reaching the passes, runs over the cold sluggish river water with little resistance. It has rarely been known, however, to come up as far as this city. The Gulf stream on June 18, between Dry Tortugas and Galveston, showed a temperature of 88 degrees.

DEATH FROM PELLAGRA

Durham, July 7.—Floyd Rhew, a well-known young man who was formerly employed with the American Tobacco Company, died at the home of his aunt on Cleveland street this morning about 5:30 o'clock. The cause of the death was pellagra. Mr. Rhew had been confined to his bed for several months and his death was not unexpected.

CROP PROSPECTS

Danville, Va., July 7.—With the thermometer at 95 in the shade and 105 in the sun today at 1 o'clock, there seems to be no check to the severe heat wave which has been crossing this section of the country for the past several weeks. Thousands are suffering from the intense heat in this city and but for the gentle breeze which has been coming from the mountain shed which surrounds Danville, it is very likely that the heat would have proven much more serious. Everything has begun to dry up, and the gardens and flowers are withering. Never has there been such a poor prospect for crops as there is in this section of the country at present. There has been very little rain here and in the surrounding section for the past two months.

Victim—If your hair restorer is so good why is it that you are bald yourself?

What has become of the old-fashioned spinster who used to envy married women?

HIS NAME MOST APPROPRIATE

"Knapp" It Was and Drowsy Delegate Proceeded to Live Up to Cognomen.

During the morning prior to the opening of the national convention, a special meeting of those delegates already arrived was held to discuss and vote on some preliminary measures. These met in a smaller hall, opposite the convention hall; and when they were all assembled in the study room, one of the members leaned back wearily in his chair and promptly fell asleep.

After an hour's session, the chairman called a vote on a certain measure. All responded but the sleeper, whose snores now and then echoed through the room.

"Here! wake that man up!" demanded the chairman, at this point "What's his name, anyway?"

No one being able to tell, and no one following the chairman's order to wake the sleeper up, that functionary at once called upon a ballot clerk to carry out the order. So accordingly the clerk hurried down the aisle to the drowsy, shook him vigorously by the arm, asking him his name the while.

With a broken snore that perforated the atmosphere, the sleeper awoke. "What's his name?" again called out the impatient chairman.

At this, the clerk straightened up from the unknown member's chair, and announced, to the accompaniment of a roar of laughter.

"Mr. chairman, he says his name is Knapp."—Judge's Library.

STEEL SPECKS IN THE FLOUR

Man of Science Announces Gravely That This Is One of the Causes of Appendicitis.

Dr. Edred M. Conner of London, alleges that appendicitis is due to white flour. Steel from the mill rollers gets into the flour. We eat this minute steel and as it goes round the bend it shunts off like a cuneus head and irritates the tissues.

A good part of the steel is absorbed, to be sure. That explains why it is not found in any of the cases operated on. But the point is, no doubt, that more than the 10-penny nail of iron allowed to each mortal is taken in and the body's magnetic equilibrium is thereby upset. The man who invented graham bread died of indigestion, but if he had drawn a magnet through it before baking he would have removed the steel particles and might have lived forever.

The wise cook today will buy a small magnet and thoroughly stir her flour with it before putting in the water and yeast. Let her wipe off the magnet every little while. The black specks that adhere are tiny bits of steel. Bread made in this way may be eaten without fear of appendicitis.

Soft-Toned Bells of China.

The natives of China use large bells of their own make in many of their temples and monasteries, writes the United States consul at Foochow. I have noticed all through Japan and China that the tone of the monastery and temple bells is very soft and smooth, due to the superior quality of the material used in their manufacture and to the absence of iron clappers, the result being a marvelous softness and mellowness of tone. The bells are never swung, being always suspended in a fixed frame, and the sound is produced by striking them on the outer edge with a wooden mallet. This makes the soft tones which are so delightfully melodious.

Surely Queen of All Hens.

A certain industrious hen, interested in the welfare of Petaluma, Cal., has gone so far in her efforts to spread the renown of the city of eggs and broilers that she recently placed four yolks in one shell. Her zeal was discovered by a firm of egg merchants, Whitcomb & Baker. The egg was slightly larger than normal. It looked like a regular egg until a candle gave an X-ray view of four small yolks. A hunt is still being made to locate the hen. In the same shipment were a number of other eggs containing two yolks, but the egg with the four yolks is said to break all records.

Radium Breases for Gout.

Radium laden breases are the very latest thing in the treatment of gout. One of the papers read at the Genoa Medical congress was on the application of radium in the aerial state. Radium "emanations" have been established in Berlin and at Bad Homburg, and now Ems is to have one. A special apparatus in which radium is placed in a current of air is fixed in a room and all the patients have to do is to sit in the room and talk or read newspapers, or play draughts; the radium in solution in the air does the rest and affects the blood through the lungs. This treatment is especially recommended for all gouty ailments.

Question Too Personal.

"I had a mighty queer surprise this morning," remarked a local stock broker. "I put on my last year's suit and in one of the trousers' pockets I found a big roll of bills which I had entirely forgotten."

"Were any of them receipted?" asked a listener who seemed to be a pessimist.

And the temperature dropped immediately to a point where everybody felt comfortable.

ROCK HILL WANTS

A STREET RAILWAY.

Rock Hill, S. C., July 7.—This town is mightily stirred. Several weeks ago the chamber of commerce started a movement for an electric street railway and suggested to the Carolina Traction Company that they submit a proposition for a franchise. This proposition was carefully considered by the executive committee of the chamber of commerce and finally submitted to the city council. The council made it a special order for last Wednesday night.

When this meeting opened Mayor J. T. Roddy was absent, but the clerk presented two communications. One of these purported to be from the mayor but was not signed. In this letter the council was advised that the mayor would not sign the resolution calling a special election on the matter of a franchise.

The other communication was sealed and directed to the mayor. The statement was made that this envelope contained money, a cash offer for the franchise. The council, however, decided that they had no right to open the envelope. After considerable discussion the council adopted the ordinance calling a special election on the proposition to grant a franchise. Mayor Roddy was sent for, but did not respond.

Mr. Roddy announced today that he has employed counsel and will fight for the interests of the poor people of Rock Hill. About a year ago Mayor Roddy signed a resolution ordering an election on this proposition, but the promoters withdrew their offer before the time for the election.

In Bankruptcy Court.

Judge James E. Boyd in bankruptcy court yesterday signed orders adjudging three dealers as bankrupts on their own petition. A plumber, a merchant and a hosiery manufacturer formed the trio.

L. W. Huffman, a plumber of Marion, was adjudged bankrupt with an indebtedness of $1,000 and nominal assets besides the exemptions. Referee W. C. Ervin, of Morganton, now has the matter under consideration.

W. H. Leak, manufacturer under the name of the Victory Hosiery Mills, of Kernersville, was adjudged bankrupt by the order of the court. The debts total $18,000 with assets $4,000 less than that amount. Watson, Buxton and Watson, of Winston-Salem, are attorneys for the bankrupt. The matter was referred to Major J. E. Alexander, of Winston-Salem.

W. H. Hurd, merchant of Leaksville, filed a petition of bankruptcy and was adjudged defunct. The indebtedness is $2,000 and the assets are $1,000 with exemptions. V. H. Custer, of Danville, is attorney in the case and G. S. Ferguson, referee.

Ants Plague English District.

An extraordinary plague of ants is causing alarm in the Durham, England, colliery village of Ryhope. One hundred and twenty miners' houses are infested with myriads of the pests, which swarm in the living rooms, causing serious discomfort and damage. The ants spread rapidly, and swarm about the cupboards and on the food in the houses. They are of a foreign species, and were brought to the village in consignments of Egyptian hay. The colliery owners have engaged experts to exterminate the pests. The infested houses are dealt with in turn, the ants being dug out in colonies and their nests destroyed.

Halcyon Days.

Alycone, or Halcyon, the daughter of Aeolus, married Ceyx. Ceyx was drowned and Alycone, on learning his fate, threw herself into the sea. The gods were moved by the tragedy of the young lovers; they brought them back to life in the form of halcyons, or kingfishers, and they decreed that for the seven days from December 22 to December 29 the sea should remain calm while the seabirds built their nests upon it. Those seven days, the last of the year, are therefore called the halcyon days, days of tranquillity.—London Globe.

FOUR INSTITUTES WILL BE HELD

One For Each Section of the County
During the Next Thirty Days—
Institutes For Men and Women,
Boys and Girls of Farms—Big Crowds Expected.

Arrangements have been made for four Farmers' Institutes to be held in Guilford county during the next thirty days, one to be held in each section of the county. The places for the institutes are McLeansville on July 27; Battle Ground, July 28; Jamestown, July 29; Pleasant Garden on August 4. By this arrangement it will be possible for every farmer in the county to attend one of the institutes without going to any extra inconvenience.

The institutes will be conducted by Prof. C. L. Newman, of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, assisted by several able instructors. Masters of interest to the farmers will be discussed and in the afternoon a question box will be opened. Two sessions will be held at each place, morning and afternoon with a recess for dinner.

At the same places and dates will also be held Institutes for Women by Mrs. Sue V. Hollowell and others. The objects of these Institutes are to bring together the women from the farm homes, that they may become better acquainted and talk over among themselves subjects tending to the betterment of conditions in rural homes, such as better and more economical foods and better methods of preparing them, home sanitation, home fruit and vegetable gardening, farm dairying, poultry-raising, the beautifying of the home and home surroundings, etc.

A premium of $1 will be given for the best loaf of bread baked and exhibited by a girl or woman from the farm. A premium of $1 will be given for the best 5 ears of pure-bred corn and a like premium will be given for the best pure-bred pig between 8 and 12 weeks old, exhibited by a boy or man living on a farm.

It is hoped by those in charge that there will be a large attendance at each of these institutes.

COURT RECESSED UNTIL MONDAY IN THE TOBACCO CASE

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 7.—Today R. W. Winston and Mr. Green, of Norfolk, made their arguments to the jury in the suit of Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co. vs. American Tobacco Co., Mr. Winston for the defendant and Mr. Green for the plaintiff. The court took a recess this afternoon to Monday to give the jury its usual Saturday opportunity to go to their homes, and the expectation is that the arguments will be closed and the case given to the jury for verdict somewhere around Wednesday or Thursday of next week. Since the refusal of Judge Connor to allow a non-suit as to the American Tobacco Co. and observance of the jury under the influence of the arguments of opposing counsel, the impression is growing among spectators that the plaintiff will get a verdict that is being variously prognosticated at from $25,000 to $50,000.

The case narrowly missed the necessity of a complete new trial last afternoon when Juror Daniel Long was knocked down by a street car on Fayetteville street and miraculously escaped with only some painful cuts about the head when instant death would have been the result in this great majority of such accidents.

Women and Society

Miss Malloy Entertains.

About thirty couples, members of Greensboro's younger society, were guests last evening from 8:30 to 11 o'clock at a delightful reception given by Miss Martha Malloy at her home on Jackson street. Misses Nettie Harper, of Staunton, Va., and Jamie Marshall, of Danville, Va., respectively the house guests of Misses Anna Shenk and Laura Clark, were the guests of honor at the entertainment, which judged by evident enjoyment of the visitors during the progress of the party and their hearty expressions of "a jolly good time" at the conclusion of it, was clearly a brilliant success.

The guests stationed themselves comfortably about the lawn surrounding the handsome home and there passed happily several hours that seemed "short but sweet." The coming of a slight rain during the latter part of the evening caused a merry scamper for shelter and transferred the scene of pleasure to the parlor of the home. Beautifully rendered pieces of music and vocal selections in solos, duets, quartet, octet, and choruses of indefinite number were indulged in and thoroughly enjoyed by performers and listeners. Dancing was also begun, many couples participating in this pleasure. In such a manner and with such amusements—to say nothing of frequent rounds made by every one to the punch bowls presided over by Misses Eugenia Malloy and Fannie Pierce, who bountifully served the delicious drink—the evening was passed and the near approach of another day sent all reluctantly homeward.

Christian Endeavorers Entertained.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Westminster Presbyterian church was delightfully entertained Thursday evening by Miss Florence Hiff at her home on Pearson street. In the soft glow of Japanese lanterns the members of the class gathered upon the lawn and passed a most enjoyable evening. Games, contests and music that was spontaneously supplied by the merry guests were added features of the entertainment. Miss Nellie McLean, presiding over a bowl of fruit punch, dispensed the delicious beverage with a liberal hand during the evening. The charming hostess served delightful refreshments of ice cream and cake in the dining-room before the departure of the guests.

Lawn Party At Buffalo.

The Ladies Aid Society of Buffalo Presbyterian church will give a lawn party next Tuesday night, July 11, at the church. The road leading to the church is in good condition and automobiles will be parked in the church grounds. The church is convenient to the car line for those who do not care to go out in autos. The ladies desire a large attendance as the proceeds will be used in purchasing hymn books.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS IMPLICATED IN ALASKA COAL DEAL

His Brother Led Him In- to the Scheme Says Man Who Handled Affair.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 7.—Charles P. Taft, brother of President Taft, is the man who induced the President to withdraw objection to giving Controller Bay Harbor, Alaska, to the Guggenheim Alaska Syndicate. This is the testimony of Richard Ryan, the man who handled the whole affair. Through Charles P. Taft he got the President to withdraw the lands along the harbor shore line from a national forest and by a secret executive order open it for settlement.

The Guggenheims took possession of all the land along the bay so they could freeze out competition. The facts in the case were discovered by a Mrs. Abbott, who was working for Collier's Weekly, through the files of the Interior Department. The story as printed today in a local newspaper created a sensation.

RULE OF REASON FOR THE TRUSTS

Peaceable Efforts to Make Them Comply With Law.

PLANS TO AVOID LITIGATION.

Big Corporations Said to Have Shown a Disposition to Surrender—Attorney General Wickesham Will Announce Purpose in a Speech—No Desire to Disturb Business Further.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 7.—(Special.)—Amnesty to corporations or an effort to bring the corporations under control of and amenable to the laws without prosecutions is to be the policy of the administration. Attorney General Wickesham will lead in his overtures, and what was once suggested during the Roosevelt administration, that the corporations make an effort to ascertain and comply with the law instead of being forced to do so by litigation, is now the plan under consideration.

The department of justice has been considering the recent supreme court decisions, and the belief is expressed that they set aside the Knight case, which was favorable to the corporations and for which Roosevelt so severely criticised the courts for making, and also the Northern Securities case, which was not altogether unfavorable to corporation alliances, as many supposed.

Big Corporations Come Down.

The big corporations are ready to come down, according to information received by the attorney general. He has prepared and will soon make a speech on the subject in which he will outline the new propositions and will try and point out a method by which the corporations may prevent further prosecutions, which will surely be to their defeat and detriment considered in the light of the decisions in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases.

It is said that the administration does not desire to disturb business further by many prosecutions and that the future action in the premises will be determined by the good faith which these corporations may show in trying to comply with the law instead of evading or defying it.

Back to Their Stations.

Efforts of the army officers to keep the troops of one division mobilized in the interest of efficiency have failed because the representatives of communities where they were formerly stationed have insisted that the troops be returned. The necessity for the army on the Mexican border no longer exists, and the mobilized division will be sent to the posts from which it was taken a few months ago. Army detachments are considered quite an asset in communities where they are stationed on account of the money spent by and for the soldiers.

To Have Careful Consideration.

All that can be said about the progress of the movement for parcels post at present is in the language of a member of the committee, who says that "it will have careful consideration next year."

It is stated by members of the committee who have been attending the hearings that three elements oppose parcels post, the country merchants, the country newspapers and the traveling men; that there are three elements favoring parcels post, the labor unions, the farmers and the department stores.

"We'll Get Roosevelt."

When the suggestion was made that there might not be a great deal in the Taft administration out of which to make political capital by the many investigations which the Democratic house has inaugurated, one of the Democratic leaders asserted, "We'll get Roosevelt." On several occasions the name of the ex-president has been brought unpleasantly forward, but generally in connection with facts which were known and acknowledged at the time they occurred.

"T. R. will land on his feet, no matter what happens," is the comment of those who have had long experience with the former president.

Carlin's Expectations.

Congressman Carlin is at a loss to understand how so many persons with less income than his own can dash around in automobiles. But he expects to ride, as an acquaintance has promised to look after him. "You'll ride with me, Charlie," said the man, who has acquired riches rather suddenly. "I intend to get me an automobile as soon as I can find the right kind of a chauffeur."

A Dapper Chaplain.

Most of the statesmen, even from the south, have shed their long frock coats during these days of very hot weather, but not so the chaplain of the senate, who is quite the most dapper man that appears at the capital. With the thermometer pressing the 100 mark, he comes to the capital with his frock coat buttoned closely about him, not a thing missing to mar his immaculate appearance. What is also surprising is that he looks as cool as the senators in their white clothes or the page boys in their shirt waists.

The present chaplain is in sharp contrast with the rugged Edward Everett Hale, who was his predecessor. Like Mr. Hale, he is Unitarian in faith. He is the pastor of the church which President Taft attends.

SYSTEMS COUNT IN BASEBALL

Players Fall Under Some Managers and Star With Others.

IRA THOMAS' CASE CITED.

He Was Failure With New York and Detroit, but Now Shines With Philadelphia Under Connie Mack—Lord Is Another Example.

By TOMMY CLARK.

System undoubtedly means much in baseball. Players who are failures under one manager often develop into stars under another. There are innumerable instances of this, and as might be expected the manager who improves his players also has a winner.

Take Ira Thomas of the Philadelphia Americans for instance. He was

IRA THOMAS, ATHLETIC'S STAR BACKSTOP, nothing more than an ordinary catcher when Mack got him. Both Clark Griffith and Hugh Jennings tried him and found him wanting, and yet under Mack he became one of the leading catchers of the country.

Briscoe Lord of the same team was never a star with any other club, but under Mack he has proved a most valuable individual. The St. Louis Cardinals have three ball players, and they are perhaps Bresnahan's most valuable men, who were turned down by Clark Griffith. Hugins, Mowry and Onkes are doing much to keep that team in the National league race, and yet they were not good enough for Cincinnati.

The manager who simply lets his ball players do the best they can without ever making an effort to improve them cannot expect to be cutting any figure in a pennant race. The ability to recognize talent and develop it makes winning teams. The mere sitting on the bench and directing a team's play does not require ability or bring success.

No manager can win without material, but a great deal depends on what he makes out of the players he has under him. Players like Collins, Baker, Oldring and others on the Philadelphia list were fortunate to get started under a man like Mack, for he undoubtedly is responsible for their success.

BELGIANS MAY ROW HERE.

Mayor Fitzgerald Plans Novel Fete For Uncontested Cup.

Mayor Fitzgerald has a new idea as a means of getting rid of the $500 city of Boston trophy ordered for the Boston-Bermuda yacht race that never came off. When he arrived in Brussels recently he invited the Belgian eight oared Henley victors of the last two years to visit Boston next year and compete in a triangular contest on the Charles with Harvard and Cornell, the winner to take the Boston cup.

Catcher Mayers Is Improving.

Notice that Chief Meyers of the Giants is doing pretty well for a man regarded at one time as a "joke" catcher. He always could hit. He is throwing as well as any of them, and he ranks second in fielding among the National league backstops with an average of .988.

PITCHER PERDUE TELLS OF STINGIEST BALL TOSSE.

"Hub" Perdue of the Boston Nationals tells of a ball player who achieved considerable popularity with fans in the south, but who was not popular with his waiter for the simple reason that no tips were forthcoming during five long seasons. One day Mr. Ball Player and George had the following conversation: "You going to be here right along, George?" "Yassar."

"All right. Then I'll be seeing you." The waiter scratched his kinky locks and then had an inspirational thurst: "Ah been seeing you for five years, but you-all hasn't seen me yet. Ah wish Boston done graft you."

THE DIFFERENCE IN COLLEGE AND BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL

What makes the great difference in pitching college or minor league ball and facing major league batsmen is the fact that in this company the batters insist on getting the ball over the plate. They do not bite at anything that is dished up, soon have a pitcher in the hole, and when he is forced to aim it over of course no difficulty is experienced in hitting him. There are any number of no hit games pitched in college baseball, and yet these same pitchers would stand but a slight chance to make good in a major league. College teams do not hit much as a rule, and an ordinary pitcher often looks like a star in that company. The fact remains that the college pitchers who have made good in the big leagues have come not from the big colleges, but from some of the more remote institutions.

SCHULTE GREAT HITTER.

Cubs' Outfielder Makes More Home Runs Than Any Other Player.

If the National league ever adopts the "plinch hit" column in its scoring, so that a record may be kept of the number of runs a batter has driven over the plate, then Frank Schulte, right fielder of the Chicago Cubs, will set up some new marks for sluggers to shoot at.

Schulte not only hits his homers with alarming frequency for the opposition, but he hits them when they count, multiplies them fourfold in the run column—in other words, he makes that baseball dream come true, a home run with the bases full. In 1910 Schulte and Fred Beck, then with Boston, tied for home run honors in the National league with ten each. There is no record kept of how many runs these long

SCHULTE, CUBS' STAR HOME RUN HITTER, hits scored, but it is a safe wager that Schulte, with his penchant for hitting with men on, sent many more over than did his rival for honors.

This season with a lively ball Schulte is out to break his home run record, and if he keeps up the percentage for games played he will have about double the number of homers he registered last year. As veterans go nowadays on the Chicago Cubs, Schulte is a "veteran," though he is a newcomer compared to some of the men that made that great team famous. He joined the Chance machine in 1904. He is one of the Cubs who positively refuses to "go back" for his work this season has been about the best of his brilliant career.

They Never Come Back, Says McGraw.

"No ball player," says John McGraw decisively, "who has been out of the game for two or three years ever comes back."

"Whisky drinking players or fighters never come back. Whisky kills the brain."

Pitcher Jack Powell's Long Career.

This is Pitcher Jack Powell's fifteenth year in the big leagues. Up to 1911 he pitched in 450 games, winning 229 and losing 221.

CUT OUT FOR A FINANCIER

Youth Beginning Well and Father Seemed Abundantly Justified in His Reasoning.

The old man was perched upon a high stool, figuring up the day's sales of dry goods, groceries and hardware, when his son came in with a rush. "Say, Pop," exclaimed the young man, "if I can buy a three-hundred-dollar horse for one-fifty will you take a chattel mortgage on him and help me out with the cash?"

"What kind of a horse, my son?" inquired the father cautiously. "Bay, 4 years old, sixteen hands high, weighs 1,000 pounds, and sound in wind, limb and bottom."

"That sounds good to me, my son, and I want to do all I can to help you along in the world," and he reached down into the safe for his roll. "How much do you want?"

"A hundred and forty-nine, fifty." The old man gasped and caught hold of the desk.

"What?" he exclaimed. "A hundred and forty-nine, fifty. I've got half a dollar."

Slowly the old man shoved the roll back into the safe.

"My son," he said softly, "you are wasting time trading horses. What you ought to do is to go into the loan and trust business."—Lippincott's.

Fond Hearts Finally United.

After waiting 30 years for her to become a widow, George Sleegarm of Wilkesbarre, Pa., has married Mrs. Marietta Tebern of Hazelton. When they were young in Germany, they fell in love, and would have married had it not been for the opposition of their parents. They tried to elope, but were discovered and caught before it was possible for them to wed. Sleegarm, despondent and angry, emigrated, and his sweetheart, who was married a year after he left, followed a few years later with her husband, who died a short time ago. Sleegarm lately discovered that his old sweetheart lived in Hazelton. The old courtship was begun again and culminated in their wedding the other day.

$150,000 AMBERGRIS IN WHALE.

Biggest Single Chunk on Record Taken From Leviathan.

Victoria, B. C., July 7.—A piece of ambergris said to be worth $150,000 was taken from a whale killed Saturday by the whaler Petriana, which arrived here today. The ambergris is said to be one of the largest pieces ever found.

"Well, how are you making it now?" "Still in the low grounds."

"Why don't you climb higher?" "High climbing makes my head swim."

"Well, then, get a move on you."

"Oh, no! I never move until the rent is due!"—Atlanta Constitution.

SNAPS FOR THE ALLIGATORS

Goose Raiser Finally Found Out Just Why His Flock Did Not Increase.

The oldest of us can remember being told that "Little Boeep lost his sheep," but as they came home at last, Boeep was not so badly off as was Bob Vorus, who six years ago started a goose farm on his mill pond, near Lumpkin, Georgia.

He knew the value of feathers, and thought the people would appreciate the opportunity of obtaining them near home for making pillows and beds.

His big mill pond was such a fine place for them to swim and live and raise their young in. So he got five hundred pairs of geese and put them on his pond.

Their nests were built in the rushes along its banks and their melodious voices reverberated from end to end of the pond. But they did not increase, according to Bob's notion; their numbers were diminishing perceptibly.

A dead one could be seen occasionally drifting along the edge of the bordering rushes. At first Bob thought it might be minks, otters, skunks, foxes, or what not that were destroying them, but soon found out that it was alligators for he actually saw one of the ugly reptiles catch a goose and pull it under water. Partly eaten geese would sometimes be found.

HE WAS A DANGEROUS RISK

In These Rushing Days the Pedestrian Has No Show at All With Insurance Company.

Here was a case where it seemed as if everything was settled. The insurance company's doctor had reported that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them. "I work in an office and we have no danger or excitement."

"How about sports?" the examiner asked. "Do you football? Baseball? Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No—none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."

"Do you scorch?"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"

"I have no car."

"What? How do you get about?"

"I walk."

"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old chap. Sorry—good night!"

Picked Up Here and There.

"It's a shame the way they crowd these cars. The passengers should rise up and insist on getting a chance to sit down."

"You may send me up the complete work of Shakespeare, Goethe and Emerson—also something to read."

"I'd like to dance and I should dance, only the music puts me out and the girl gets in my way."

"Yes, her husband robbed her of every cent she had—and just think, she only married him because she was afraid of burglars!"

"Hello! Is this the butcher? Well, you may send me up a roast of beef, and remember, please, butcher, to have it rare. That's the only way my husband can eat it."—Boston Transcript.

COW GOES JEWEL SHOPPING.

Strolls Into Jewelry Store, to Construction of Girl Clerk.

(Cambridge, Mass., July 7.)—While Miss Mae Richardson, a stenographer, was alone this afternoon in Colburn's Harvard College jewelry store, she was suddenly interrupted in her work by a "moo" and glancing up she saw a cow in the main aisle of the store carelessly leaning against a case filled with diamonds and other jewelry. Despite the heat and her hobble skirts, Miss Richardson made a record sprint, and her exit was followed by the entrance of another cow. Two students in the Harvard summer school by judicious twisting of tails and punching of noses finally coaxed the cows to leave the shop, but in going out one of the bovines tipped over a show case.

The cows had been attracted by the wet pavement just sprinkled. Once outside they hung around the front until the hose was turned on them. They were joined by more cows, disporting in the water until the driver of a herd hove in sight and took his vagrant charges in tow.

"Dear Doctor:—Am desirous of giving you a voluntary testimonial, which you can publish if you desire. I was perfectly helpless for over three months with rheumatism and kidney disease. Had three physicians during this time, and none of them helped my case, and I grew gradually worse. Through a friend I heard of Dr. Daniel G. Carey, and sent for him, but with little faith. He came, and under his treatment, using prescriptions No. 555 for rheumatism and Marsh Root No. 777 for the kidneys, I was able to walk outdoors in three weeks, and in two months was a well man. This was six years ago. Am now 85 years old, and it would be hard to find any one of my age as hearty and well as I am.

WHY HE WEARS LONG HAIR

Joaquin Miller Thus Hides Two Long, Jagged Scars From an Indian Arrow.

A writer in the San Francisco News Letter tells the following story: Joaquin Miller, the venerable poet of the Sierras, who is on the road to recovery, after almost fatal illness, is one of the best-known and most picturesque figures about the San Francisco bay, and for years his trips into Oakland from "The Heights" have been weekly events. It has been a matter of wonder to his many admirers that a man of such brilliant mentality, and, in addition, possessed of so much good common sense, should play to the gallery gods in the matter of hirsute adornment. Miller's beard and flowing locks have long been a constant source of irritation to the public. A beard may be swallowed, though it of necessity causes some slight uneasiness, but a gentleman with back hair just naturally gets the public's goat. However, Miller's ability to keep a secret has shown that he is no lady.

Some time ago I had occasion to visit the great man on his lofty mountain height. In aimless discussion we talked of one thing and another, when Miller quizzically asked:

"How could you spend a dollar with most profit?"

"I know how you could spend it," I remarked.

"How?" inquired Mr. Miller, curiously.

"By visiting a barber," I answered bluntly. "Say, now look here, Miller, why don't you amputate those flowing locks of yours? It's ridiculous for a man of your stamp to affect a pose. There are so many silly little would-be artists and poets to whom that sort of a thing comes natural. Why don't you cut it out—or off?"

Miller smiled. "And so you really think I wear my hair and beard long for a pose, do you?" he queried.

"Well, I suppose it would surprise you a bit to know that I do it instead from necessity." He lifted the sweeping beard and disclosed to view a long, jagged scar at the base of the chin and another extending across the back of his neck.

I apologized like a gentleman.

"I got those scars," he said, "from an Indian arrow along in the early days. A party of soldiers was leaving Yreka, and needing a guide, asked me to go along. In an encounter we had with a band of Modoc Indians, I was struck by an arrow, the barb entering my neck just below my chin and coming out at the back. As it was impossible to remove it, the head had to be filed off. Fortunately, it was not poisoned. Since then I have always worn my hair and beard long."

Jade and Amber.

How behind the times we are, just rubbing our eyes open to the loveliness of jade, while our slant eyed brother of the east has loved it for thousands of years! Interwoven with his great love of it is the unshakable belief in its potency to bring uninterrupted good health and good luck to its wearer—nay, more than this, that it is a talisman against which the shafts of ill will are splintered to bits.

Jade is indeed to him the most precious of all stones and for ages has he wrought it into most exquisite and delicate shapes both in ornamental jewelry and lovely pieces of bric-a-brac.

In looking over the display of jade in the Metropolitan Art museum one is impressed with the waxen appearance of the polished jade.

An infallible home test for jade may be made by placing upon one cheek the stone in question and upon the other something in glass. If the doubtful stone is the sacred stone of the east its touch will sting like ice and even for quite a time after removal, but if it is merely glass the two cheeks will have the same mild shock of cold, warming up very quickly. The results of the amber test, however, are the reverse, amber being warm upon the cheek, and the glass imitation cold. Amber, too, when under friction, will set like a magnet, gathering up bits of tissue paper, and even to the teeth it has a different feel from glass, more like a very hard wax.

Making Love to Her Own Husband.

I have already said that I was blessed with a romantic brain and that a quiet, even state of things could not satisfy me for long. So the thought suddenly entered my head to have my husband madly in love with me.

One evening as we were promenading the bank of the Vistula, under those venerable trees which shaded the less unsophisticated loves of the beautiful Marie D'Arquin, I brought round the conversation to sentiment.

I maintained that no happiness was possible on this earth except in a reciprocal attachment, both lively and enduring! My husband, after listening for a little while, looked at his watch, called my attention to the lateness of the hour, observed that our cousins were becoming very tiresome, and that it was time to go in!

From Countess Potocka's "Memoirs."

Safer and Surer.

"I want you for my very own," said the rich old gentleman when he had succeeded in getting the beautiful girl to listen to him.

"But how can I be your very own?"

"Why—why, you can marry me, can't you?"

"I suppose I could; but don't you think, if you really want me, it would be safer to adopt me?"—Judge.

Honest Medicines Versus Fakes.

President Taft's recent message suggesting an amendment to the Pure Food and Drugs law in its relation to Prepared Medicines, does not refer to such standard medicines as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and Foley's Kidney Pills, both of which are true medicines carefully compounded of ingredients whose medicinal qualities are recognized by the medical profession itself as the best known remedial agents for the diseases they are intended to counteract. For over three decades Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been a standard remedy for coughs, colds and affections of the throat, chest and lungs for children and for grown persons, and it retains today its pre-eminence above all other preparations of its kind. Foley Kidney Pills are equally effective and meritorious. Howard Gardner.

Light on Habits of Snakes.

The popular theories regarding the cobra's musical ear, and the snake's power of fascinating birds, are upset by a statement made the other day by Professor Barnard who has been studying this species of snake in Ceylon. The serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, he says. The only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. Barnard also concludes that the power of fascination upon birds is purely imaginary.

WOULD CHANGE POSTAL RULES

Senator Bourne's Bill Aimed at Discrimination.

LOWER RATE FOR PACKAGES.

Measure Would Make Charges Between Points in the United States the Same as to Foreign Countries and Would Increase Limit of Weight From Four to Eleven Pounds.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 7.—(Special.)—Senator Bourne, chairman of the committee on postoffices, has introduced a bill to which there can be no manner of objection, and yet it would not be surprising to find that a method to prevent its passage will be found.

The bill provides that the people of the United States shall enjoy the same rights in the matter of cost and size of packages in sending fourth class matter through the mails as enjoyed by foreigners in this country—that is, it is proposed that the same rate of postage shall be charged for packages in the mails in this country as is charged when packages are sent to a foreign country and that our people may send the same sized packages if they so desire.

An Unjust Discrimination.

The Bourne bill will draw attention to the unjust discrimination that has been practiced for years against the people of the United States. Packages may be sent from Chicago to Tokyo, Japan, for 12 cents a pound, but they have to pay 16 cents a pound if sent from New York to Philadelphia or between any two points in this country. Packages to the size of eleven pounds may be sent to and from the United States and any foreign country, but packages of only four pounds are allowed to be sent between points in this country.

Bourne said that it might seem strange that it was necessary to have legislation which would give the American people the same right in exchanges among themselves as was given to foreigners. It is possible that the Bourne bill may be the entering wedge to gain a parcels post in this country.

An Old, Old Problem.

In such a small matter as granting a corporation the right to construct a dam and use a part of the water in an Alabama river, the old, old problem of the rights of the states and the limitations of the federal government were brought to the front. And it is upon this same issue that the proposal to amend the constitution for electing senators by direct vote will fail. It is also probable that effective legislation for publicity of campaign contributions will fall for the same reason.

This old problem is a legacy the constitution builders left to their descendants because they could not settle it, and it seems as if it never could be taken out of the realm of dispute and controversy.

The First Victim.

Senator Paynter of Kentucky is said to be the first victim among senators selected for disapproval by the people because of his position on the Lorimer case. Paynter was a member of the committee and signed the report in favor of Lorimer. More than that, he was a vigorous Lorimer supporter in the debates in the senate. Lorimer was one of the issues in the recent Kentucky primary.

Knows His Ohio.

As it is positively asserted by those who ought to know that President Taft will veto the wool bill if it ever reaches him. It shows that he "knows his Ohio." Four Democrats from Ohio could not stand for the wool bill, and others did not want to vote for it, which shows that Ohio still has an interest in sheep.

William R. Morrison, famous as a tariff revisionist a quarter of a century ago, referred to Ohio sheep men as "sheep shearing scoundrels" or words to that effect. It is altogether likely that there are still many "sheep shearing" persons in Ohio.

Veto Expected.

That a veto may be expected of all tariff bills except the Canadian reciprocity agreement is assured. No doubt the president had in mind that purpose when he gave Speaker Clark and Chairman Underwood assurances that he would not, even if an opportunity presented itself, adjourn congress without the consent of the house. It was known then to be the purpose of the house Democrats to pass several tariff bills.

It was not then known that the senate Republican insurgents would help them through the senate, but beyond doubt the president relies upon the tariff board for information as to the different tariff schedules, and he has stated to congress that the board has not sufficient information as yet upon which to base reports.

The Court's English.

Congressman Littleton of New York was asked what he thought about the opinion of the supreme court in the Standard Oil case. "I have been about as much interested in the English as the law," he replied. "When I came across the words 'assiduously asserted' I began thinking of that more than the legal aspect of the decision. There are also other interesting expressions."

Silence!
The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecous. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.
It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

New York, July 7.—A "rat" and a stiff hatpin were all that prevented a stray bullet from perforating the brain of Mrs. Henrietta Buckley, of Brooklyn, while she was sitting on the deck of a Battery-bound Glen Island boat last night. When the boat was about 500 feet from the pier at the Battery, Mrs. Buckley started from her seat and cried that she was shot. At the same instant the report of a pistol rang out from the Recreation pier, near by. Alarmed, Mr. Buckley caught his wife in his arms and laid her on a deck settee. Seeing blood on her hair, he quickly drew out the hatpin and removed her hat. As he did so a bullet dropped to the deck.

MIGHTY BOYLE SHORT CIRCUITED BY ELECTRICIANS

Winston, July 7.—Hayes was more effective than Boyle this afternoon and the Electricians short-circuited the diamond half a dozen times. The hits secured by Anderson were opportune and the Twins really had no chance. In the second frame the scoring started when Kelly singled and Brannon made a connection good for a circuit of the bases. In the fifth three more runs were added and Bailey was sent to the bench by Umpire Nugent for disputing a decision at the plate. The game was featured by the playing of the Winston outfield, the work of W. Kelly at short and a catch of a foul fly to right by J. Kelly.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Anderson . . . 020 031 000—6 7 1
Winston . . . 000 010 010—2 5 1
Batteries—Hayes and Brannon; Boyle
and Bailey and Edwards.

SHEESLEY KEPT THE MUSICIANS' HITS WELL SCATTERED

Charlotte, July 7.—Sheesley's brilliant twirling was directly responsible for another victory won by Charlotte from the Musicians. His pitching was superb, as his opponents were never able to locate him at critical times and succeeded in pushing around a solitary run in the seventh. This tied up the score until the Hornets' half of the eighth when they batted in the winning tally. Laval was also in good form and this coupled with the fast support given both twirlers made the game exceedingly fast and furious with high interest maintained at all times by sensational feats. Score by innings: R. H. E.
Charlotte . . . 000 100 01X—2 6 1
Spartanburg . . . 000 000 100—1 5 1
Batteries: Sheesley and Malcolmson; Laval and Ochs.

DIAMOND DUST

Things are coming our way.

Boyle got his bumps yesterday.

Flowers does not terrorize the Doylemen.

Charlotte is climbing towards the Patriots.

Looks like the North Carolina teams will end in the first division.

The "Deacon" will officiate at this afternoon's performance.

Tony Walters was in excellent form yesterday, but he is usually that way.

For our part, we believe the Patriots have the best opportunity of anybody to win this year's rag.

Winston evidently doesn't realize that we have won two pennants, and that pulling down the rag is no novelty to us.

There has been only one error in the three games with Greenville. That's better. Let's have fewer errors and more runs.

The Doylemen will be at home all of next week. The first three days we entertain Anderson and the last three days Greenville will be our guests.

Telegraph Rates Equalized by Com- merce Commission

The Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from the Interstate Commerce Commission stating that the Postal Telegraph Company on July 1 complied with the request of the Chamber to give Greensboro a better rate to Washington. Some months ago a complaint was made by the Chamber to the effect that the Postal was charging 50 cents for a message of 25 words to Washington and Baltimore, while the rate to these places from Raleigh was only 40 cents. The commission took this matter up with the Postal authorities and the rate from Greensboro to Washington was reduced to 40 cents while the rate from Raleigh to Baltimore was raised to 50 cents. The rate to Richmond from Greensboro was also raised from 35 to 40 cents. This gives Greensboro the same rate to northern cities that is enjoyed by other towns in the state.
